About Jennifer

With a keen focus on driving ROI and shareholder value, Jennifer thrives on building long-lasting relationships while developing new channels and strategic product marketing opportunities to accelerate business growth. A 30-year marketing veteran, she cultivates key customer and market insights to guide effective marketing and customer-centric product development for a broad range of B2B and B2C companies from Fortune 500 to startups. While driving top-line business results, Jennifer tests and scales new initiatives to formulate a cost-effective marketing mix, and mentors cross-functional, global teams to success.
