About Tom McCarty

A data driven digital marketer and executive leader, Tom leverages his ed tech, professional services, sales and sales management, lead gen, and e-Commerce experience to drive consistent growth. With a record of developing winning strategies, profitably growing service businesses and leading high-performance teams to achieve aggressive targets, Tom works to understand the customer and what they need. Focusing marketing programs on cost effective strategies to reach and convert the customer, he supports marketing strategy, customer experience, marketing technology, attribution, and predictive analytics projects.

How Tom has Helped Businesses Grow

- Helped a coding bootcamp increase lead volume 20% through better allocation of the paid media spend and improvements to the website that increased conversion.
- Reversed a decline in revenue for a staffing firm by launching SEO, paid media, and telemarketing campaigns.
- Transformed the company as he transformed marketing at Zovio. Helped design the strategy to convert the business to a services provider, then rebranded and relaunched.
- Achieved 100% of the demand generation plan in the first quarter rebranding and relaunching Ashford University as UAGC.
- Ratcheted down the cost of doing business by insourcing media buying, outsourcing creative development, and adding a marketing analytics capability.
- Drove a 20% performance improvement transforming education's largest internet advertising program in a multi-hundred million dollar spend at Apollo Group.
